

Military collection worth '$10 million' up for auction

28/01/2022

SHARE THIS ARTICLE

TOM ELLIOTT

Australia's largest assortment of military memorabilia is up for auction!

It comes after a Victorian collector who owned it died last year.

Lee Hames, Chief Operations Officer for Lloyds Auctioneers, said the man had some five sheds full of the memorabilia that needed to be moved.

"We realised very quickly we had a big job on our hands," he said.

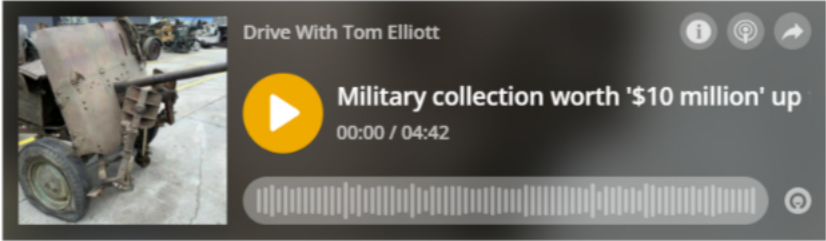

Mr Hames said he "wouldn't be surprised" if the items fetched a combined total of $10 million.

ADVERTISING

Press PLAY below to hear more about what's up for grabs!

Drive With Tom Elliott

Military collection worth '$10 million' up

00:00 / 04:42

The video player interface includes a thumbnail image of a military vehicle, a play button, a progress bar, and icons for information, share, and repeat.